we wish to pay, but we think we should be allowed to have the matter adjudicated. This country has reopened matters of claims and awards with Hayti and Venezuela and other countries. Why not have this matter passed upon again? It seems a shame to me that your fearless President, Mr. Roosevelt, who is against trusts and bad corporations and the like, will not permit this to be done and should allow himself to become a party to that which is not fair. I have never met Mr. Roosevelt. Of course I admire him, but it seems to me that he has changed somewhat since his present term

President Morales shrugged his shoulders and went on:

"Of course he is not an Emperor and I do not wish to criticise him or your country. But I see that he is trying to impose Mr. Taft on the country as his successor." Another shrug. "Down in my country that would be regarded as cause—but I must set talk about such matters.

"I favored having this country take over our custom houses. I am not in favor of the proposed loan of $20,000,000. I agree with the finance committee of our Congress that it is not wise. We now have more than $2,000,000 saved up and here in New York. When I took office the receipts of our Government were less than $1,000,000 a year. Before I was deposed they amounted to nearly $3,000,000 a year. President Woz y Gil, who preceded me, tried to run the Government as a sport. He paid little attention to administration. He is now running a cigar factory in Santiago, Cuba. running a cigar factory in Santiago, Cuba I wanted to develop agriculture and to pay our debts. I think that with the $2,000,000 and more we have saved up a loan of $10, 000,000 would be the proper thing. When asked if he would not fear for his personal safety in case he should return under amnesty, President Morales said "No, I have no fear. Of course I have personal enemies. "I hope we have passed that infantile stage and that henceforth we shall enjoy the blessings of peace and the prosperity that will surely follow. I have confidence in this country's good intentions toward us and other countries and I believe in its work for humanity. For that reason I hope it will not impose on us that claim of $4,500,000 of the Santo Domingo Improvement Company until all the facts are known. Surely the great Mr. Roosevelt will see that justice is done. I hope so."

President Morales had few callers yesterday. He sent word to Consul-General Fiallo that he would like to have him call. Mr. Fiallo had not called up to last evening. "He is my personal friend," said Mr. Morales, "and may feel delicate about calling in view of my exile." President Morales went out last night, but left no word where he was going. He intimated in the afternoon that he would like to see Coney Island.

"LET US RIDE ON OUR NEW SHIP! Appeal of a Committee of Kansans Whe

Want a Sail on the Battleship Kansas. WASHINGTON, May 31 .- "Please, Mr Secretary, let us have a ride on our new battleship." This is in substance, although not in exact form, the appeal which Secretary of the Navy Metcalf received to-day from a committee of Kansans who want to make a voyage aboard the battleship, which has been named in honor of the Sunflower State. A committee of representative citizens of Kansas is coming on toPhila delphia next month to present the monster sea fighter with a handsome silver service.

Knowledge of searraft in Kansas is confined largely to rowboats on mill ponds and prairie schooners, and the committee think that it would be a grand lark to take passage aboard the vessel for a short trip. They want to make a voyage on the Kansas from Philadelphia to They want to make a voyage on the Kansas from Philadelphia to New York, and the request for such permission was trapsmitted to the Secretary through Secretary

Secretary Metcalf was forced to explain not only that it was entirely contrary to not only that it was entirely contrary to navy regulations to grant such permis-sion, but furthermore that there are no accommodations aboard a battleship for civilians. He was obliged to exercise a good deal of diplomacy in turning down the Kansans, and did so without causing any ill feeling, but they were disappointed.

The record, combined with that of April, furnishes a mean temperature lower by several degrees than the combined mean of the same two months of any previous year of which there is record. In the vicinity of Washington, D. C., the combined mean for April and May was 53.5 degrees, 5 degrees below the normal temperature, while that of May alone was 50 degrees, also 5 degrees below the normal temperature and equalling the previous low record of May, 1882.

"The same general conditions also prevailed in greater or less degree from the middle Atlantic States and lower Lake region westward through the great corn and wheat districts, and were especially marked in the upper Mississippi Valley. Middletown, N. Y., Girl Who Risked Her Life to Save That of an Old Man. WASHINGTON, May 31. The President has awarded a medal of honor to Miss Mary Guinan of Middletown, N. Y., for extreme daring in risking her life to save the life of John C. Runyon, who was in danger of being run down and killed by an crossing in Middletown on December 19

MEDAL OF HONOR TO MISS GUINAN

Mr. Runyon, who is 74 years old and quite feeble, attempted to cross the tracks in front of an approaching train, not observing that a train was also rapidly approaching on the other track from the opposite direction. He reached the central space between the two tracks before observing that trains were approaching from both directions and became greatly bewildered at his apparent inability to go forward or back without danger of being run down:

Miss Guinan, who was standing at the crossing, observed his perilous predicament and rushed to his aid. Not having time to pull him off the tracks, she seized hold of him and held him firmly between the two trains as they rushed by. For several moments the two were in this perilous position, a train rushing by at a high rate of speed on each side of them. When the eastbound train had passed they got to the sidewalk, the old man being nearly unconscious from fright, while Miss Guinan was apparently undisturbed by her experience. A measurement taken subsequently showed that there was but thirty-six inches of space in which to stand

Friends of Miss Guinan took the matter up and made application for a medal for her under the provisions of the act of Con-gress of February 23, 1805, bestowing bronze medals of honor upon persons who, by extreme daring, endanger their own lives in saving or endeavoring to save the lives of others from wreck, disaster or grave accident on railroads in the United States engaged in interstate commerce. After engaged in interstate commerce. After full investigation by the Federal authorities the committee on award of medals recom-mended that the medal be awarded to Miss Guinano and the President approved the reommendation. In transmitting the medal the President wrote Miss Guinan the following letter:

MY DEAR MISS GUINAN: Pursuant to the provisions of the act of Congress of February 23, 1905, an act to promote the security of ravel upon railroads engaged in interstate commerce and to encourage the saving of life, you have been duly awarded a meda for extreme daring, whereby on December 19, 1906, you imperilled your life in saving the life of another. I am pleased to convey to you herewith this medal as a testimonia the nation's appreciation of your courageous and praiseworthy act. Sincerely TREODORE ROOSEVELT.

FOR THE HAGUE CONFERENCE. Bartholdt to Submit Programme of the Interparliamentary Union.

WASHINGTON, May 31 .- Representative Richard Bartholdt of Missouri, president of the American group of the Interparliamentary Union for International Arbitration, was at the State Department to-day and had a conference with Assistant Secretary Bacon before leaving for the Hague Peace Conference. Representative Bartholdt, as the American member of the committee of the Interparliamentary Union appointed at the last meeting in London, will present to the conference the peace will present to the comercial the peace programme of the union for the settlement of all international differences by arbitration. The plan was drafted by Mr. Bartholdt and presented by the American group to the union last year and approved, and a committee was appointed to present it to the conference. the conference.

The programme proposes making the Hague Conference a permanent body, with the right to meet periodically and automatically without waiting for a call to be the right to meet periodically and anomatically without waiting for a call to be issued by any Government or ruler, for the discussion of international questions which the course of events may make paramount in world politics. The second part of the programme contains a draft of a model arbitration treaty which provides that concerning a certain number of specified questions arbitration shall be obligatory. In other words, it provides that the Hague Court shall have jurisdiction. These questions are ones of minor importance which arise from time to time between nations. It is further provided that in cases of vital importance an investigation shall be made first, either by a commission of inquiry or through the mediation of friendly Powers, before war can be declared. The adoption of this programme will be urged quiry or through the mediation of friendly Powers, before war can be declared. The adoption of this programme will be urged by the committee of the Interparliamentary Union, representing all of the national legislative bodies of the world, and the members of the union, at least, have assurances that it will receive careful consideration. Whether or not it is formally adopted, they believe that its presentation will be a long step forward toward the goal of ultimat's world peace.

Representative Bartholdt will sail from New York on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse on Tuesday.

CONSTRUES WORD - WHISKEY

HIS OPINION OF APRIL 10.

WASHINGTON, May 31 .- Attorney-General or rectifier, a chemist or physician.

In establishing the meaning of the words "like substances" in the Pure Food law to determine whether a mixture is a "blend' or a "compound," the Attorney-General or a compound, the Attories deferred says:

"Congress must be presumed to have legislated with reference to well established processes in the manufacture and sale of distilled spirits. There can be no doubt that, according to such practice, 'straight' whiskey was mixed only with two substances, besides mere coloring and flavoring materials, namely with 'straight' whiskey of another kind, and with ethyl alcohol.

of the statute to confine the use of the word 'blend' to one kind of mixture; and since the Congress must be supposed to have legislated with regard to existing facts, and, consequently, since the mixture to which it intended to deny the designation

ATTORNEY-GENERAL STICKS TO

He Says the Proper Definition Is a Question Tof Law-He Also Says the Words "Like Substances" in the Pure Food Law De Not Mean Two Kinds of Whiskey.

Bonaparte announced to-day that he had decided not to withdraw or modify in any respect the opinion he gave on April 10, giving the definition of the word whiskey as it appears in the Pure Food law. The Attorney-General denies that he felt impelled to follow the construction put upon the word by the Agricultural Department. He reminds his critics that he questioned the entire accuracy of that construction in his previous open opinion as being not broad enough. He cites numerous opinions to show that he reached the interpretation he had employed regardless of the Agricultural Department. The proper definition of whiskey for the purposes of the Pure Food act is a question of law, he says, and should be given its ordinary significance as a word of everyday speech, and is not to be understood in any commercial or scientific sense, as it might be by a distiller

There is an evident intent on the face and, consequently, since the mixture to which it intended to deny the designation blend' must be either a mixture of two different kinds of whiskey or a mixture of whiskey with the one other substance generally mixed with it, namely, ethyl alcohol, it follows that unless we are prepared to, say that ethyl alcohol is more like' to whiskey than one whiskey is to another it is reasonable to conclude that the Congress intended to deny the designation blend' to a mixture of whiskey and ethyl alcohol. If this provision was in fact inserted with some reference to whiskeys (which seems to be generally assumed as a fact by both sides to this controversy) then it is impossible to see why the provision as to blends and compounds was inserted at all if the Congress considered whiskey and ethyl alcohol to be 'like substances.' I have found, therefore, no difficulty in concluding that according to all the well established canons of statutory construction these two kinds of spirits are not to be considered 'like substances' for the purposes of the pure food law."

The Attorney-General concludes with the suggestion that if anybody feels aggreived he may apply to the courts to construe the law.

furthermore have asked that the influence of the State Department here be exercised in their favor. This Government, however, will take no part in the matter, as it is one with which only the Uruguayan Minister and his Government can deal. While the names of the two men are still on the State Department's register it is understood that they have been stricken from the rolls of the International Bureau of the American Republics.

the rolls of the International Bureau of the American Republics.

The affair has created a mild sensation in diplomatic circles, as the course adopted by the Minister is said to be somewhat unusual. It is said that there have been lively quarrels in the Legation, but as the matter has no international importance, but is confined entirely to personalities, the State Department has not taken official recognition of the trouble.

WASHINGTON, May 31.-The navy retiring board, of which Rear Admiral Evans is president, will meet to-morrow for the purpose of weeding out a sufficient number of officers to meet the requirements of the personnel act. The board is relieved, however, of a part of its disagreeable duty by the fact that several officers have voluntarily applied for retirement.

ALFONSO'S WEDDING DAY.

Te Deum for Escape From Beath-Victims of Outrage Not Forgotten.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUK.

MADRID, May 81.—The first anniversary of the wedding of the King and Queen of Spain was celebrated to-day by a solemn Te Deum in the palace chapel in thanksgiving for their escape from the bomb thrown at them as they were returning from the church after the marriage ceremony. Memorial masses were also celebrated at the churches of Buen Suceso and Santa Maria for the victims of the outrage.

The service at the former church was attended by King Alfonso and other mem-bers of the royal family, palace officials, Ministers, officers of the Madrid garrison and the regiment which lost some of its men. The King in the course of the day signed a decree authorizing the introduction in the Chamber of a bill pensioning the families of the victims.

The trial of Ferrer, Nakens and the others who are charged with aiding the escape of Morales, the man who threw the bomb, will begin at the Palace of Justice on June 3. The public prosecutor will demand sixteen and a half years penal servitude for Ferrer and nine years for each of the others. As the trial will be without a jury it is expected that his demands will be granted. All the accused will be defended by barristers who are members of the Republican party.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, May 31. Karl Blind died suddenly to-day of heart disease at Hamp-

Karl Blind was born in Mannheim, Germany, September 4, 1826. In the lyceums at Mannheim and Karlsruhe he took high nonors and afterward pursued his studies at Heidelberg and Bonn. He was a leader in the German revolutionary attempts and was imprisoned five times in the years from

He was a member of the provisional government in Baden and fought in the battle of Staufen. He was captured and sentenced to death but escaped through a flaw in the Grand Ducal proclamation. Blind got eight months solitary confinement in Rastatt casemates. That was to have been the beginning of an eight were sentence. the beginning of an eight years sentence, but he was freed on the temporary over-throw of the dynasty by the people and the army.

He was appointed a member of the Embassy of Baden and Northern Bavaria to France and arrested in violation of the law of nations after Ledru-Rollin's uprising against the second Napoleon, but after two months he was released and banished from France. From England he cooperated with Mazzini, Garibald, i Ledru-Rollin, Louis Blanc and other republican leaders on the continent. He intercested himself in all revolutionary movements in terra-on the continent. He interested himself in all revolutionary movements, in turn-the Schleswig-Holstein movement, the Hungarian movement for autonomy and the Polish rising of 1863-4 against Russia. He supported the North against the South in the United States civil war, however, and was on the side of Germany in the Franco-Prussian war. He was for the Italians against the Papacy and the Japanese against the Russians and was in favor of the Russian movement for freedom. He wrote extensively on politics, history. wrote extensively on politics, history, mythology and Germanic and Indian literature. He was an honorary member of the Italian Academy of Literature.
